

SEI EQ Assessment Certification: Education and Community Focus

Earn certification in a powerful, practical set of tools for measuring and developing EQ at school, home, work, and in the community.

Are you ready to put emotional intelligence in action?

Through this engaging distance learning process, educators and those working with youth and families are equipped to measure the key skills of emotional intelligence.

The program focuses on assessing and developing youth (SEI-YV), and also includes certification in the SEI plus an introduction to the SEI360. Unlike many other tools, the SEI is not just “information,” it provides a powerful framework for putting emotional intelligence into action.

- SEI: emotional intelligence self-assessment for adults, includes numerous report options for use in coaching, training, and professional development. Includes Six Seconds EQ Model plus six outcomes: Effectiveness, Health, Relationships, Quality of Life, Influence, and Decision-making.
- SEI-YV: the best-in-class tool for measuring and developing emotional intelligence in youth (ages 7-18). The tool tracks eight competencies critical to helping youth grow and thrive, linked to important life outcomes: Good Health, Relationship Quality, Life Satisfaction, Personal Achievement, and Self-Efficacy.
- SEI360: multi-rater feedback tool for adults on how they are putting the EQ competencies into action.

The SEI is available in many languages, adapted by local experts, and updated regularly. 3. The tools provide insight to make the intangible concepts of EQ “real.” Even more importantly, they are based on the Six Seconds Model, a powerful framework for understanding and development.
4. The SEI and SEI-360 tools are invaluable tools for professional development (for administrators, faculty, staff, etc) in K-12, higher education, and other organizations
5. The SEI-YV provides focused, powerful insight for individual and group assessment and as a guide for curriculum and instruction.
