Meghan Magillan, Counselor, Sacred Heart School, California

Certified SEL Specialist:

Comprehensive curriculum, training, and evidence-based assessments to lead social emotional learning

While most educators see the value in social emotional learning, most schools do not have a systematic, comprehensive, developmental approach to these essential skills. These social emotional skills are one of the foundations for high performing students, classrooms, and schools.

This certification pathway equips internal and independent specialists with one of the world’s only fully-integrated methodologies for SEL – with assessments & curriculum for every stakeholder.

THE EMOTIONAL INTELLIGENCE NETWORK

“...the Self Science curriculum stands as a model for the teaching of emotional intelligence.”

- Daniel Goleman

What is this pathway about?

Schools that integrate SEL report a more effective learning environment, better problem-solving skills, stronger interpersonal connections, and stronger academic performance.

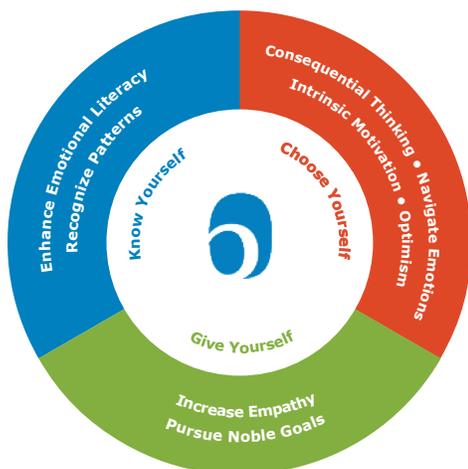

While most educators see the value in teaching their students to effectively understand and manage emotions, few teachers have experienced this kind of learning themselves. As a result, even very experienced teachers have a limited number of strategies and techniques to systematically teach social and emotional skills.

Certified SEL Specialists are equipped to implement an effective SEL program with:

- A developmental, research-based methodology and curriculum for teaching the skills.
- Culturally responsive processes for integrating the skills and concepts into the classroom and school.
- Robust measures for students, adults, and overall school climate.
- Methods for making the SEL vocabulary and skills part of the school culture.

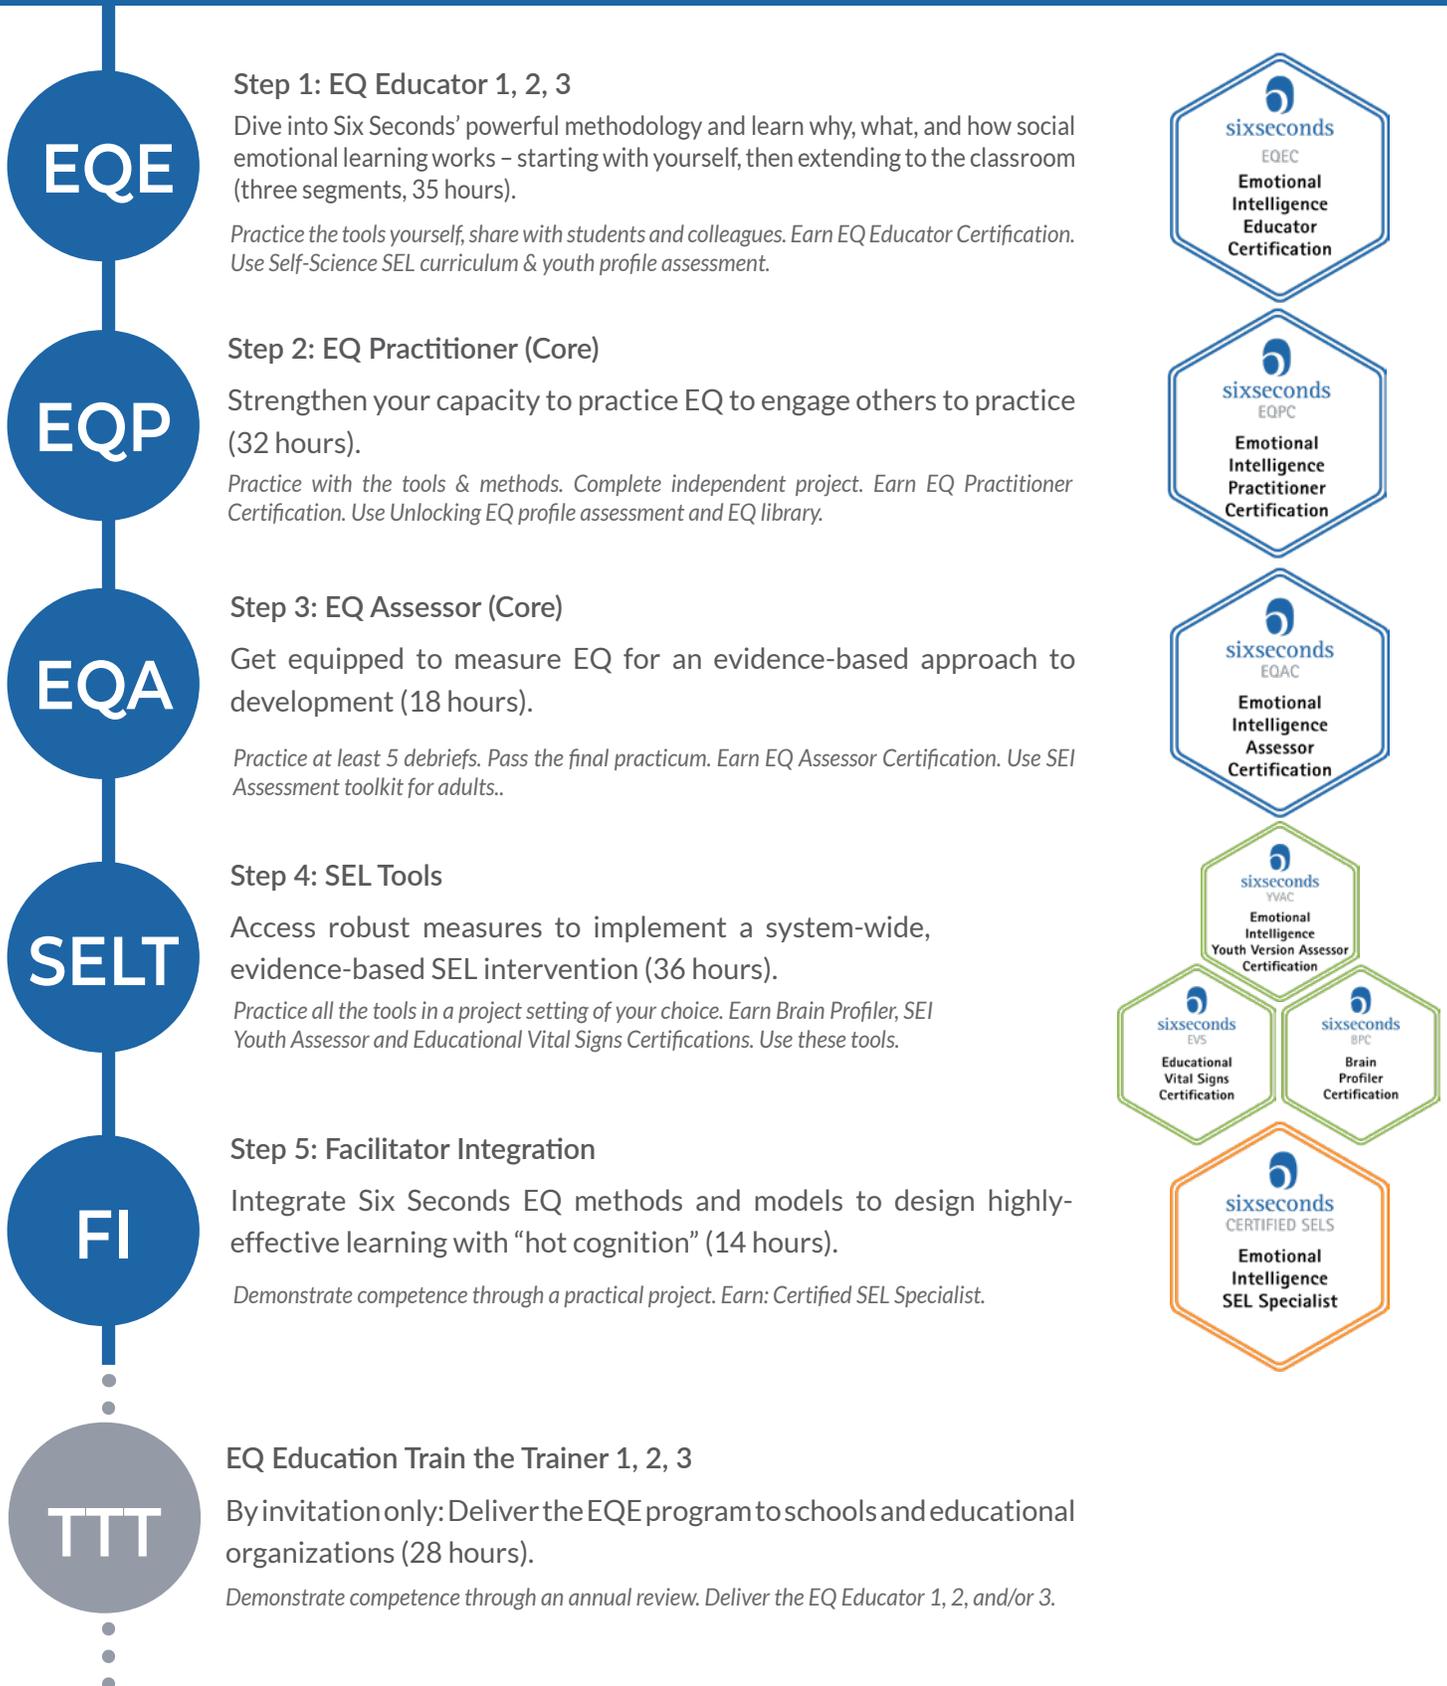

At present, Six Seconds is the world's only SEL provider offering a COMPLETE toolset to meet the implementation standards recommended by current research – with integrated measurement tools, curriculum, and methodologies for all ages and stakeholders, and with a global, cross-cultural, equity-centered approach. Become a Certified SEL Specialist to bring this toolset to your own school(s) as an SEL Director and/or to your clients as a consultant:

- Deploy state-of-the-art assessments and equity-oriented SEL learning tools for youth and adults.
- Integrate SEL into academics and/or cocurricular programs.
- Train educators to build capacity for SEL.
- Design strategies to bring SEL to all stakeholders (students, parents, educators, leaders and other community members).
- Grow emotionally intelligent leaders across the institution to create and maintain an SEL ecosystem.
- Create a custom program that is culturally-aligned and serves a school's unique mission and values, with metrics and feedback for continuous cycles of improvement.

“This course provided ample opportunities and materials to help me integrate the Six Seconds and EQ principles into my classroom, my advisory, and my overall philosophy of teaching. I will be grateful to the leaders and the program for the rest of my career.” - Rod Jacobsen, English Teacher and Global Citizenship coordinator, The Thacher School, Ojai, California

The content is based on 40 years of practical teaching experience and the Self-Science curriculum featured as a model in Daniel Goleman’s 1995 bestseller, Emotional Intelligence. Certified Practitioners are delivering programs in over 150 countries.

Six Seconds’ tools and methods are culturally responsive and grounded in real-world experience – as well as current neuroscience.

A social-emotional learning (SEL) program supports students to be more effective in navigating the complexities of their daily lives by teaching and modeling a learnable set of skills proven to increase academic and life success.

Why is SEL important?

As shown in the graph below, emotional intelligence, or EQ, is strongly linked to critical outcomes for school and life success. EQ skills are measurable, learnable, and effective.

This graphic shows the five key factors, or "Barometers of Life," to create academic and life success. These are measured by the SEI-Youth version.

In this global sample of 13,776 students, 53% of the variation in "Barometers of Life" success factors is predicted by EQ scores. Source: A Case for Emotional Intelligence in our Schools 2016 – www.6seconds.org/case

In addition, both the SEI-YV and SEI-pYV are tools listed in the RAND Education Assessment Finder.

How to implement SEL?

To effectively implement social emotional learning, and teach the essential skills of emotional intelligence, Six Seconds has identified best practices in three key “strands”:

1. Everyone in the school is developing their own EQ skills.
2. EQ is integrated into the classrooms to enhance academic learning.
3. The whole school uses EQ to build a thriving learning community.

The Benchmarks for SEL provide a roadmap to a great place to learn:

Strand one: EQ Development	Strand two: Extend EQ into the Classroom	Strand three: Integrate EQ into the School
<ol style="list-style-type: none">1. All people in the school community learn & practice EQ.2. Train educators in SEL.3. Measure EQ to support individual growth.	<ol style="list-style-type: none">4. Support teachers' effective practice with EQ data.5. Enhance academic learning with EQ.6. Build positive classroom communities with EQ.	<ol style="list-style-type: none">7. Create annual SEL plans.8. Make EQ visible in school.9. Guide implementation with a robust school climate assessment.

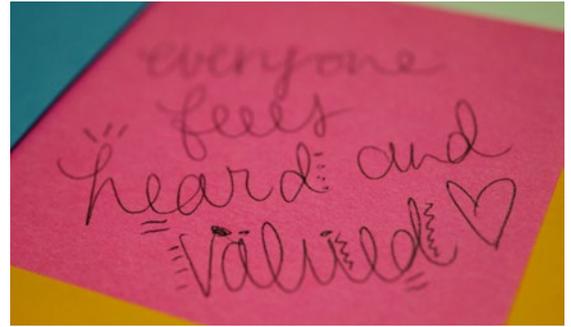

See 6sec.org/sel for benchmarks in each area and a rubric to assess implementation

Six Seconds has found that in order to effectively support students and families to practice emotional intelligence, teachers need the training and support to do so themselves. The first strand, EQ Development, equips and empowers teachers-as-changemakers to measurably deepen their own EQ skills and those of their students. The following strand, Extend EQ into the Classroom, integrates these skills into the classroom climate and academic instruction to create a vibrant and inclusive learning community. The third strand, Integrate EQ into the School, guides the school to create a holistic environment where all the members feel connected and thrive.

Six Seconds will support you in developing a customized SEL implementation process. We deliver transformational training for educators, tools to measure EQ in adults and youth, school climate assessments, and extensive resources. These ingredients are key to any comprehensive, evidence-based approach to SEL.

“Experimental learning at it’s best. Wonderfully presented and easily understood. Great EQ tools to help me in my personal life and in the work environment.”
